

Tube Dance (1)

Score by Sean Thomas Boyt
STBDancing.com

Part I

Pick out your favorite video on some sort of streaming website. Please warm up your dominant hand's index finger. It will be your tiny dancer for now.

Watch your video in its entirety. Watch again, this time echoing any movements you see (this includes human gestures, transitions, furniture and set shifts, subtitles, etc.)

Watch for a third time, this time with the video muted, fully immersing yourself in your body's attempt at articulating whatever you see.

On your fourth viewing, look away from the screen (For once!) and continue your repetition of your interpretation of the pixel's dance.

Part II

To fully embody your video of choice, click pause at any point in the video.

Randomly, click around the track's length and position yourself appropriately in the poses you find.

Go backwards and forward in time to hopefully find relationship within the choreography you have extracted.